01 / OUR COMPANY

A scientific perspective. A personal approach.

PharmaGlobe is being built around a simple ambition: make pharmaceutical supply conversations more informed, more personal and easier to navigate. Our team brings a scientific background and several years of experience in the private sector, shaping an approach that values clear specifications, careful questions and practical communication.

For us, a product requirement is the start of a relationship. Understanding who needs the medicine, how it will be used within an authorised supply chain and where it needs to go helps define the work ahead. We want pharmacies, clinics and procurement teams to have a direct point of contact who takes those details seriously.

Based in Manchester, our outlook extends across the UK and towards international markets including the UAE, Pakistan and the Far East. As we develop the business and its authorisations, our focus is on building the foundations for responsible, lasting trade relationships.
